TSU, Partners with Project Grad

Texas Southern University is partnering with Project Grad to offer students, who have not made up their minds about college, the opportunity to take a look at TSU. The informal gathering is set for 6 p.m. Tuesday, June 30th at TSU's Student Life Center. Students, armed with $4,000 scholarships, along with their parents, will get a closer look at nearby Texas Southern University.

TSU officials will be showcasing its unique and new degree programs such as the Maritime Transportation, Airway Science, Entertainment and Recording Studio, Transportation and Research, Theatre, Education and Business and a host of others.

The agenda calls for an overview of the University, question and answer time, an explanation of the enrollment process, a discussion about financial aid and housing and a dinner for both parents and students. Hasan Jamil with TSU, and Tina Wright, project grad, coordinators of the project, are expecting a great turnout.
