SUBJECT: Welcome Back for the Fall 2020 Semester

Welcome back, Tigers! We are happy to see you on our virtual campus platforms to begin the Texas Southern University Fall 2020 semester. While we wish we could greet every one of you on the Tiger Walk as you make your way to class, please know that we are rooting for you and will provide the resources needed for a successful academic year in our new academic normal.

Our faculty and staff are dedicated to delivering the best Texas Southern University experience possible, despite the challenges we all face with the COVID-19 pandemic. While the current situation may alter our physical plans, it will not deter our intellectual growth and curiosity coupled with lifelong learning and academic pursuits.

Your health and safety remain our top priority. We look forward to seeing you again in a safe environment. Until then, please know the proper precautions are in place for the critical personnel who are on campus this week to support our semester efforts.

It is with Tiger spirit and strength that we will embrace change and accept the challenge to help you become your very best. The resilience and tenacity that you will develop during this semester will be the building blocks for your success upon graduation from Texas Southern University. Our mission is to help you get there.

Focus on your studies. Keep your TSU pride on display. Stay strong and healthy.

GO TIGERS!
