IMMEDIATE RELEASE
July 7, 2010

TSU Professors and MPA Graduate Student Present Papers at Midwest Political Science Association Conference

Dr. Michael O. Adams, Professor Carroll Robinson, Dr. Antoinette Spears Christophe, all Professors of Public Administration, along with MPA graduate student, Sabria Lapps, participated in the 68th Annual Midwest Political Science Association National Conference.

The national conference, held in Chicago, Illinois, April 22-25, 2010, allowed participants from across the United States to present research for publication on various topics, bombarding the political science and public administration arenas.

Drs. Adams, Christophe and Professor Robinson presented two papers. The first paper was entitled, “E-Governance: Facilitating Coordination in Disaster Management.” The second publication presented, titled, “Improving Disaster Mitigation and Recovery Effort Via Information Technology (IT) and E-Governance,” focused on the support of multi-level governments to disaster organizations and the linkage to e-government.

Dr. Adams, along with MPA graduate student, Sabria Lapps also presented a paper at the national conference. The publication was titled, “Immigration and the United States Housing Market: A New Movement in the 21st Century” and concentrated on the context of contemporary migrant flows to the United States and new trends in urban environments.

Dr. Adams and the Master of Public Administration faculty continue to enhance the overall research of the MPA graduate program by consistently providing record numbers of publications.

For more information about the E-Governance publications, the MPA E-Governance Center or the MPA and eMPA programs, please contact Dr. Michael O. Adams, program director at (713) 313-7760 or email Adams_MO@tsu.edu.