

You're The Expert

The Office of Marketing and Communications is developing an expert list inclusive of all faculty members. The comprehensive listing will be provided to the media, detailing each faculty member's specified area of research and/or program.

In the event of a national/regional news story related to your area of expertise, your insight and knowledge can help to localize the issue. The Office of Marketing and Communications will work with you to arrange possible placement in the media.

Please complete the form by providing the information below and return to Office of Marketing and Communications, Hannah Hall room 211. Should you have any questions concerning the report, please feel free to contact Kendrick Callis, communications specialist, at 713- 313-7933 or calliskd@tsu.edu
